

Balance of payments – France • January 2022

The current account deficit narrowed in January

The current account deficit stood at 1.8 billion euros in January after a deficit of 7 billion euros in the previous month (seasonally and working-day adjusted data). The improvement of the current account balance was mainly due to the decrease of the deficit of goods excluding energy (-1.1 billion euros in January after -5.5 billion in December 2021). The energy bill remained relatively stable at -5.6 billion euros and the surplus on services increased by 1.1 billion euros to 4.3 billion.

The financial account (non-seasonally data) showed net capital inflows of 16.3 billion euros. Portfolio investment recorded net investments abroad (41.4 billion euros), and direct investment net outflows of 1 billion, offset by net inflows in loans and deposits of 53.7 billion.

Methodological notes relating to page 1 table

(1) Data on trade in goods are FOB-FOB values, which means without cost, insurance and freight. This expenditure is recorded in the services item. Exchanges of goods cover General merchandise published by the Directorate General of Customs and Excise (DGDDI) on one side, merchandising and methodological adjustments calculated by the Banque de France, on the other side. In order to ensure the comparability of French balance of payments with those of other countries and conformity with the international standards, the international standard for Balance of Payments statistics is released under the aegis of the International Monetary Fund. The key concept for the balance of payments is the concept of economic ownership which is consistent with the national accounts.

(2) Services other than travel (tourism and professional travels), transport services, professional and management consulting services, R&D and development and technical services, trade-related and other business services include manufacturing, maintenance and repair, construction, insurance and pension services, financial services, charges for the use of intellectual property, telecommunication, computer and information services, personal, cultural and recreational services and government goods and services.

(3) Income includes primary and secondary incomes. Primary income refers to the flows received by economic agents for their participation in the production process ("compensation of employees") or for the provision of financial assets ("investment income") or for the rental of natural resources ("rent"). Taxes and subsidies on products and production are also included in primary income. Secondary income records current transfers between residents and non-residents. A transfer is a transaction that involves the provision of a good, service, financial asset or another non-produced asset without receiving something of economic value in exchange.

(4) The "other investment" (loans and deposits) component of the financial account includes all transactions in financial assets and liabilities with non-residents that do not concern direct investment, portfolio investment, financial derivatives or reserve assets. In practice, this mainly concerns bank deposits and interbank lending, as well as loans and deposits made by insurance companies and all kinds of investment companies and funds.
