

Call for Papers

Submission deadline: 31 August 2024

Banque de France – Université Paris Dauphine - PSL Conference

Financial Intermediation and Monetary Policy: Recent Trends and New Challenges

Hosted by the Banque de France

Paris, 25 November 2024

The Banque de France and the Université Paris Dauphine – PSL welcome submissions for the conference “Financial Intermediation and Monetary Policy: Recent Trends and New Challenges”, scheduled to take place at the Banque de France headquarters in Paris on 25 November 2024.

The organizers invite submissions of high-quality theoretical and empirical papers on topics related to financial intermediation and monetary policy. Particularly relevant topics include:

- Monetary policy transmission and banks;
- Banking competition and monetary policy;
- Bank funding amid fluctuating interest rates;
- The impact of digital transformation for financial intermediation;
- Fintech and financial products and services: implications for monetary policy.

The keynote speaker is Prof. Robin Greenwood (Harvard Business School and NBER).

Paper submissions

Full papers in PDF should be submitted to:

Financial-intermediation-monetary-policy-conference@banque-france.fr

The deadline for submitting papers is 31 August 2024 (Midnight). Authors will be notified by 20 September 2024.

Practical Information:

The conference does not cover travel and accommodation expenses. There are no registration fees to attend the conference.

Organisers / Scientific Committee

Mattia Girotti (Université Paris Dauphine - PSL)

Guillaume Horny (Banque de France)

Eric Vansteenberghe (Banque de France)